PART II CAUSES OF FAILURE Some Causes of Success. So that we may have a clear idea as to the causes of failure, let us first notice some essentials of permanent success. The reader should think of a few such essentials. Let him work out the conditions under which he would succeed, if he himself tried to introduce some great change into the lives of his fellow-countrymen, then he will be more lenient in condemning the failures of Vegetarianism. There is need of authority, and of recognised and orthodox authority in particular. There is need that the advisers should have faith in their cause, faith backed up by good reasons, and backed up by good results. The advisers must appeal to all the strongest motives and means of persuasion, remembering that one of these is the eye: they must not deny the actual results which people see before them. They must take these results for granted, and not pass them over. They must know human nature, and its subservience to custom. They must know the present conditions of life, for example, hurry and worry and their fruits (p. 81). They must be able to adapt their scheme to present conditions; perhaps the change should be gradual. But above all they must show candour and fairness, especially in confessing limitations. If possible, they should have no failures at the start. The manager of a large Company not long ago told me that it...
